Ike Asks Power to Send Help Overseas

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today for blanket authority to send government-held farm products to friendly countries to meet "famine or other urgent relief requirements."

The president made the request in a special message, proposing the authority be limited to the next two years.

Eisenhower noted that special legislation was required when this country made a million tons of wheat available to Pakistan last week and when agricultural supplies were provided to India in 1951.

"This procedure," he said, "not only adds to the congressional burden but also slows speed with which this government can come to the assistance of a nation urgently needing relief."

Eisenhower said also that since the specific needs of foreign countries cannot be foreseen, he wants "The authority to establish, when the need arises, the terms and conditions under which these agricultural commodities shall be made available."

The farm products in question would come from stocks accumulated by the Commodity Credit Corporation in the government program of supporting prices received by American farmers.

Eisenhower recommended that funds be authorized to reimburse the CCC for its investment in the commodities that might be sent "plus any other costs, including interest which it may incur in carrying out programs authorized under this act."

Drought Affects More of State Than In 1952

COLUMBIA, Mo.—Drought conditions threaten a greater portion of Missouri than the 1952 dry period, county agents report.

Lack of moisture is reported throughout the state with few exceptions. County agents sum up the situation in this way. South Missouri counties are already short. Early spring pasture seedings are gone. Oats didn't fill and most were cut for hay.

On the bright side, however, wheat made record crops. Agents in Webster, Dallas and Cedar counties report record wheat yields with some fields running up to 62 bushels per acre. In Webster County, it is expected that the county average will hit the 30-bushel mark and this is in a county which has previously averaged about 18 bushels per acre.

The south Missouri corn picture is not so bright. Corn is beginning to curl during the day but to date is straightening up at night. Agents say it is developing a good root system and moisture soon would permit to a fair crop. While liquidation of livestock is threatening there has been little so far.

Apparently the excessive heat has hurt. Associate County Agent Drew Anderson of Gasconade County says that heat has hurt more than drought. This county, however, had some moisture recently. But the same situation is reported from Johnson County where no rain has fallen since mid-May.

Pastures, however, are drying up throughout the state and hay is falling well below expected yields.

In north Missouri, the picture is becoming serious but farmers for the most part are not hurting yet. Biggest damage so far has been poor corn stands. But they do need rain in most counties.

Cleveland (AP)—When a 250 batter hits 350 for a month, he has hit .150 for another month by way of compensation. When a team with shaky pitching and a gimpy shortstop wins 18 straight, it has to lose seven in a row—maybe eight or nine or 10—to even the score.

That's what the law of averages says. You needn't look any further for an answer to the question, "What's the matter with the Yankees?"

They're simply paying back what they owe us. They may have thought they had got the law of averages repealed, but it's still as binding on them as on the other teams.

The Yankees are a pretty good ball club, but only pretty good. In the kind of league they're in, they are probably good enough to win the pennant—in a close race.

But no team on which only about one pitcher in four is capable of finishing what he starts is good enough to pile up such a lead as they piled up in fashioning their near-record winning streak.

In spite of losing seven straight, they have won 18 of their last 25, which is still too fast a pace for the kind of team they are. They still owe us a few more games before leveling off to a normal performance.

A team like the Yankees, basically sound, but with certain well-defined weaknesses, figures to two, lose one, win three, lose two against the sort of opposition the league affords. It doesn't figure to rip the league to shreds.

If the Yankees fail to win the pennant, it probably will be because they won 18 straight in June—because the compensating losing streak required under the law of averages created a fatal panic in their midst.

For four years, Casey Stengel has been playing baseball backward, ignoring the accumulated wisdom of the managerial ages.

For four years Stengel has played hunches and acted on guesses, some pretty fantastic, and

Chisox Talk About Chance At Pennant

CHICAGO (AP)—The revived Chicago White Sox, victorious in 11 of 13 road games, returned home today and Manager Paul Richards talked hopefully of the American League pennant.

Hope was all but dead in the Sox camp when the Comiskey crew left town June 12.

The Sox had been losing monotonously and were 13 games behind the New York Yankees—the team that then was winning 18 straight and threatening to make a joke of the pennant race.

But something happened abroad. The once-dispirited Southsiders broke out on a rampage in the East and ended their road trip with seven straight wins, including sweeps of three-game series at New York and Boston. The victory string, coupled with a Yankee slump, has put the Sox only 6½ games out of the lead. They trail second-place Cleveland, also on the upswing, by half a game.

En route to Chicago for a Comiskey Park game tonight with the St. Louis Browns, Richards cast off his usual reticence when asked if the Sox could win the pennant, and said:

"Why not?"
"The race isn't half over yet and we're only 6½ games behind," he elaborated.

"On the first trip East in the latter half of May I went on record that the Yankees could be beaten if their big three pitchers—Allie Reynolds, Vic Raschi and Ed Lopat—began to fade or if something happened to either Phil Rizzuto or Yogi Berra."

"Well, it begins to appear that father time is coming to our aid. Rizzuto is hampered by an injury and the big three have begun to sputter."

"I don't care how many other pitchers Casey Stengel has. He won't win the pennant with pitchers like Jim McDonald, Bob Kuza, Tom Gorman, Ray Scarborough and Ewell Blackwell."

"Reynolds, Raschi and Lopat have to do it. If they falter, Casey's in trouble."

"Besides, the Yankees used a lot of good breaks and good pitching in their 18-game winning streak. The percentage seems to be catching up with them."

Invades TV Show, Stabs Cameraman

NEW YORK (AP)—A man wielding two kitchen knives invaded a CBS Television rehearsal today, stabbed a cameraman in the chest and threw the studio into a panic.

One actor was struck over the head with a water pitcher.

Thirty-five to 40 persons chased the man into Ninth Avenue, where he was captured by police.

Police said the knife wielder, identified as a war veteran, told them he hated television and "wanted to kill a television operator."

Patrick McBride, 33, television cameraman of Wantagh, N. Y., was stabbed as he attempted to force the intruder off the stage.

Eric Dressler, 56, an actor who has appeared in many television shows, was taken to Roosevelt Hospital suffering from head injuries.

The cast was rehearsing for the CBS television show, "City Hospital," scheduled to be telecast tonight.

The intruder later was identified by police as Richard Gaughan, 29. He appeared suddenly in the midst of four actors on the stage. McBride saw the knives and tried to force Gaughan off the stage, but the man slashed at him, inflicting deep wounds in McBride's back and chest.

Dressler attempted to grab Gaughan, but he picked up a water pitcher and hit Dressler over the head with it.

When the studio crowd closed in on Gaughan, he fled to the street and 35 to 40 men, armed with sticks, mops and brooms, pursued. Police joined the chase and captured the man a block away.

Police booked him on charges of illegal possession of weapons and felonious assault.

House Group Charges Housing Money Goes For Political Use

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee charged today that millions of dollars of federal housing funds in Los Angeles have been poured into political and lobbying activities "in brazen disregard of federal criminal statutes."

The subcommittee called for a Department of Justice investigation. It asked prosecution, if warranted, of "apparent violations of both the Corrupt Practices Act and the Hatch Act," barring federal employees from soliciting political funds.

The subcommittee report was signed by Chairman Hoffman R. Mich of the House Government Operations Committee, and Reps. St. George (R-NY) and Hillelson (R-Mo.).

Educators Will Study School Children's Health Problems

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—How can Missouri communities provide better health for school age children? Educators and public health workers from over the state will explore that problem at a three-day school health workshop at the University of Missouri State College July 6, 7 and 8.

Dr. Guy N. Magnus of University City, president of the American School Health Officers, will give the keynote address. Another principal speaker will be Clyde Parker, superintendent of schools at Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Dr. William F. Knox, director of public service at Central State College, is in general charge of the workshop.

Gay Throng Watches Shrine Circus Opening

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A gay throng, estimated at 150,000 persons, watched a colorful parade last night, marking the opening of the annual Shrine circus here.

Floats with Mother Hubbard, Mary's little lamb, Mother Goose, Little Boy Blue and other children's story book characters delighted the youngsters along the downtown route.

Proceeds from the circus, which ran through next Sunday night, go to the Shrine's hospital for crippled children and other children's agencies here.

President Designates 152 Disaster Areas

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today formally designated 152 drought-stricken counties in Texas and 40 others in Oklahoma as disaster areas.

This makes cattlemen and stockmen in those counties eligible to share in the eight million dollars allocated yesterday by the president from his emergency fund for drought relief.

Churchill Studies Government Papers

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill was up and about today at his country home—still pouring over government papers though ordered by his doctors to take a month's rest.

The 78-year-old premier had lunch with his actress daughter, Sarah, and Britain's top atomic expert, Lord Cherwell.

Hungary Abolishes Long-time Party Post

LONDON (AP)—Budapest radio announced today the job of secretary general of the Communist party for Hungary has been abolished. The job was held by Premier Matyas Rakosi, long boss of the party.

Dulles Says US Maintains Its Truce Position

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the basic U. S. position on a Korean armistice has not changed since President Eisenhower detailed his views June 6 in a letter to President Syngman Rhee of South Korea.

Dulles issued a statement at a news conference, which said in part:

"The discussions with the Republic of Korea and the negotiations with the Communists with reference to an armistice are continuing."

The principal representatives, Assistant Secretary Robertson from the political side, and Gen. Clark from the military side, are thoroughly familiar with our basic thinking and of our continuing desire to achieve an armistice under the conditions set forth in President Eisenhower's letter of June 6 to President Rhee.

"The basic position of this government has not changed since that time."

Denies Injunction In Feud of Two Church Factions

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Circuit Judge Raymond E. Ladriere has denied an injunction sought by one of two feuding factions of Trinity Lutheran Church in nearby Chesterfield, Mo.

The court retained jurisdiction in the case, however, by refusing to dismiss a suit which charged illegal seizure of the church building.

The judge told the two groups, which have been at odds for over two years, to get together saying, "as the constitution provides for regular meetings on the second Monday of each month, an opportunity is provided for such action as the congregation chooses to take."

The judge also thought it might be well that "peace officers should attend so that everyone, even the most timid, will feel perfectly free to come and fully participate in the meeting."

One of the two factions favors the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod; the other, the Orthodox Lutheran Church. They disagree on theological doctrine. The Missouri Synod faction filed the suit last year.

Confesses He Was Gunman Who Robbed Suburban Bank

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—A 35-year-old steel plant worker with a good reputation gave himself up last night and confessed he was the gunman who held up the suburban Bank of Warwood a week ago today.

Officers questioned Walter McKinley Klingensmith most of the night after he called them to his home at Wellsburg, 15 miles north of here.

Cpl. J. R. Weese of the West Virginia State Police quoted him: "My conscience simply wouldn't hold up. I had to give up."

"I can't understand it," said Sheriff Thomas Boyd of Klingensmith's home county. "Walter has a good reputation. I have known him since he was a kid."

Weese said Klingensmith took officers to a thickets and helped them dig the $6,100 in checks taken in the robbery. The $589 in stolen cash hasn't been accounted for yet.

Leaves Soviet With Russian Wife, Family

MOSCOW (P)—Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press correspondent in the Soviet Union since 1941, left Moscow by plane today for Finland, en route to the United States. He was accompanied by his Russian-born wife and two small daughters.

On the same plane with the Gilmore were another American and his Russian wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tucker, and Mrs. Ethel Balashova, a U. S. citizen, and her two daughters by a Russian father.

The Soviet Union gave Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. Tucker and the Balashova children permission to leave early this month in the first such Russian action in recent years. Subsequently the Soviet government announced it would give exit visas to four more Russian wives of Americans living in Moscow.

Tucker, whose father lives in Kansas City, has been with the U. S. Embassy here since May, 1944. He and his wife were married in 1946.

Mrs. Balashova's legal residence is Los Angeles, where her mother, Mrs. Louis Babin, lives. She married Alexander Balashova in 1939 but they were divorced in 1946 when a Soviet court gave her custody of the children, Elena, now 13, and Alice, 11.

Gilmore has been succeeded here by Thomas P. Whitney, a member of AP's Moscow staff for six years, who now becomes acting chief of the bureau in Moscow.

The AP has announced in New York that it hopes to arrange soon assignment of another American to the Moscow staff.

Mrs. Gilmore and the correspondent were married in 1943. With him, she and their daughter Vicki, then 2, visited England and the U. S. in the summer of 1946. The family returned to Moscow in September of that year.

A second daughter, Susanna, was born after their return to Russia. Members of the American Embassy staff and many diplomatic representatives of other countries were at the airport to see the three families off, all en route to the U. S.

Army Discharges GI Freed by Communists As Being Subversive

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—One of the first Americans freed in the disabled Korean War prisoner exchange in April has been discharged from the Army as "disloyal and subversive."

The 24-year-old ex-corporal, Paul F. Schnur Jr., had been held virtually incommunicado by the Army since he was handed over by the Reds April 20.

A Sixth Army spokesman said yesterday the "undesirable discharge" was ordered by the adjutant general's office in Washington. He said it is not a dishonorable discharge and does not deprive the holder of any rights or benefits of a veteran.

Schnur was awarded a Bronze Star for valor in Korea before his capture in 1950.

He was vacationing in Spokane, Wash., at the time of the discharge announcement.

His father, active in the "Save the Rosenbergs" movement here and now associated with Vincent Hallinan, onetime independent Progressive party presidential candidate, refused to comment.

Oil Output Increases In West Ural Fields

MOSCOW (P)—The Soviet press indicated today that oil output in the western Ural fields is increasing rapidly.

Newspapers reported that output in the Bashkiria field had increased 21.5 per cent the first half of 1952, as compared with production in the corresponding 1951 months.

Bashkiria is one of the Soviet Union's largest oil production regions.

Passenger Pays Fare After 51 Long Years

ST. LOUIS (P)—The Frisco Railroad is $5 richer today because a passenger kept worrying about a free 100-mile ride he took in 1902.

The money came from a California resident (not identified by the railroad) who said he took advantage of a confused conductor on a train running late and rode from Lene, Kan., to Springfield, Mo., without a ticket.

The man added "thanks for the favor" and said he was short of money at the time.

RICH DEPOSIT FOUND—Cross on map shows location of one of the richest deposits of nickel ore ever found. It is near Lynx Lake in Western Ontario, 53 miles northwest of Kenora, Ont. Plans are under way to begin mining the ore as early as August. The nickel in the rich vein assays at 10 per cent, while ore which runs at 1-per-cent nickel is considered "good."

Police Catch Pork Chop Burglar Who Returns for Dessert

BALTIMORE (P)—An 18-year-old boy who became known to police as the "pork chop burglar" after a series of meat thefts here was caught yesterday.

But it was the dessert instead of the main course that led to his arrest, police said.

Officers investigating a lunch-room where meat had been stolen found two paper bags stuffed with candy that had been abandoned in the rear of the store. They waited for the burglar's "sweet tooth" to bring him back.

Soon they saw a figure slink into the building, they told Magistrate William F. Laukaitis. They pounced on him.

The defendant, Robert Brown, was ordered held in $2,500 bail on burglary charges.

Police said they found 36 pounds of meat stored in Brown's refrigerator at his home.

Pravda Reports Gang Who Made Big Profits By Reselling Leeches

MOSCOW (P)—Pravda told today of a gang of millionaire "blood-suckers" who raked in enormous profits from the resale of medical leeches.

Soviet doctors still often prescribe the old-time remedy of leeches to draw blood in the treatment of certain ailments.

Pravda said two brothers named Nemedov bought the leeches for the equivalent of 3 to 4 U. S. cents from pickers in Southern Soviet Azerbaijan, near the Iranian frontier.

The Nemedovs resold the worms for the equivalent of 30 cents, pocketing the difference.

The newspaper called for action against the Nemedovs, asserting that although one was in jail, the other, with his "bloodsucking" relatives, was still at large.

Mother Is Charged In Cruel Beating Of 10-Year-Old Boy

CHICAGO (P)—Mrs. Thelma Hoffman, 30, was charged with aggravated assault and battery yesterday in the beating of her 10-year-old son, who was found in a ditch with both legs broken below the knees and other serious injuries.

Policeman Jack St. Clair of the suburban Homewood sheriff's police said Mrs. Hoffman admitted beating the boy "because he had stolen candy from other children and did not do well in school."

St. Clair said her son Dennis told him his mother struck him with a heavy piece of a tree limb.

Taken to a hospital, Dennis was reported to have suffered a fractured rib, broken sacrum (part of the pelvis wall), groin injuries and severe bruises over his body. St. Clair said Dennis is Mrs. Hoffman's only child and that his stepfather, Vincent, 30, is a civil engineer.

Mrs. Hoffman was released on $500 bond pending a hearing Wednesday in Homewood sheriff's police court.

Adlai Says the Iron Curtain Has Cracked

ATHENS, Greece (P)—Adlai Stevenson said today recent events in East Germany have shown the world that "the Iron Curtain has cracked."

"Tyranny now is reaping its harvest," he told a news conference here before leaving for Rome on another leg of his globe-girding trip.

Stevenson said that while the outlook for a nonshooting peace in the West is "good," the outlook in the Far East "is not so good."

Soviet Tanks Are Pulled Back Slowly

BERLIN (P)—Soviet tank forces gradually pulled back today from leading East German provincial cities still in the grip of martial law.

More than 1,300 new arrests by the East German government's security agents were reported in the strike-crippled steel, uranium, coal and automobile industries.

A sabotage fire inflicted heavy damage to open pit installations in the big coal field at Bitterfeld, in Saxony-Anhalt, but no other serious flareup of resistance was confirmed in the Soviet zone.

The 14-day siege following the June 17 workers' rebellion was reported ended in the cities of Chemnitz and Rostock. Large farming districts in Brandenburg and Mecklenburg had been turned back to civilian Communist control yesterday by Soviet command.

In Leipzig and several other centers of the rebellion, Soviet armor withdrew in an intimation that further lifting of martial law was in prospect. Many of the Red Army units patrolling East Berlin already have been recalled to their barracks.

There were other overtures to the Easterners.

The anti-Communist West Berlin intelligence organization, Information-Bureau West, reported the release from two Soviet military prisons of 52 German prisoners convicted five years ago on charges of espionage and other anti-Russian activities.

The East German Supreme Court committed to 15 years imprisonment the death sentences of two 18-year-old youths convicted of murdering a Red secret service agent during the revolt.

With the relaxation of military controls, refugee traffic to West Berlin picked up. The refugee center reported 382 East Germans had applied over the week end for political asylum. The total, however, was considerably below pre-rebellion week ends.

President Signs Bill To Speed Citizenship To Aliens In Army

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower called congressional immigration specialists to the White House today to witness the signing of legislation to speed citizenship to aliens who serve in the U. S. armed forces.

The legislation, backed by leading veterans' groups, the Defense and Justice Departments, makes eligible for citizenship aliens who serve 90 days in the U. S. armed forces between June 25, 1950, and July 1, 1955. In some cases, residence in this country for one year prior to military service is required.

Donnelly Signs Bills for Aid To Patients

JEFFERSON CITY (P)—Bills clearing the way for the state to pay old age assistance and disability aid to patients in licensed public hospitals were signed by Gov. Phil M. Donnelly yesterday.

The hospital licensing law was required before the federal government would participate in the cost of the welfare payments. It had to be signed before July 1 but the new program can't start until the laws go into effect Aug. 29.

Thus assistance payments and disability aid to hospital patients will start in September. Proctor N. Carter, state welfare director, estimated 1,300 to 2,000 persons would be affected. It will cost the state an estimated $625,000 for the next two years to pay them and the federal share will be about $1,250,000.

After signing the bills, the governor designated the state Health Division, headed by Dr. James R. Amos, as the agency to set up rules and standards for all hospitals in the state. He will have power to inspect them and make them meet the standards.

The new program of aid to hospital patients is expected to save the City of St. Louis up to $1,400,000 the next two years in caring for city infirmaries patients and Jackson County up to $325,000 in caring for patients at the county home for the aged.

The new law also raises from $3,750 to $5,000 the amount of property a person may own and still be eligible for old age assistance. The property limit for relief clients and the disabled is raised from $1,500 and $2,000 to $5,000.

The pamphlet, "March of Freedom," is based on what it says are seven divine freedoms taken from the 23rd Psalm. These are set forth as freedom from want, hunger, thirst, sin, fear, enemies and to live abundantly.

Eden Settles Down For Recuperation At Newport Estate

NEWPORT, R. I. (P)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and his wife settled on a private estate facing Newport harbor today hopeful of a quiet convalescence from his recent operation.

The 56-year-old diplomat, appearing much healthier than on his arrival from England 3½ weeks ago, left the New England Baptist Hospital in Boston yesterday. He underwent an operation June 10 to clear a bile duct obstruction.

Eden and his wife Clarissa, 53, niece of British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill, came directly from the hospital to the estate of John Barry Ryan, grandson of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, multimillionaire New York financier.

Dr. Richard Cattell, the diplomat's surgeon, said in a bulletin, "We are convinced that after a full period of convalescence a complete recovery can be assured."

The bulletin said the obstruction in Eden's bile duct, "which was non-malignant, has been shown to be entirely relieved."

ANTS

There's a new and better way to kill ants. It's called Roach Filmz. When applied to any surface with the built-in cap-applier, it leaves a hard, dry, clean, invisible film. The film can't harm or soil any surface; but, when ants touch it, their legs become paralyzed and they die in two hours. A single application remains effective for months. You never see it, but it sure does get rid of ants and roaches! Roach Filmz is available at W. E. Bard Drug Company.

Drew Pearson Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON—Winston Churchill has secretly offered to give the most famous bastion of the British Empire, Gibraltar, to NATO in order to bolster the defense of Europe.

The British prime minister has discussed this privately with U. S. officials and is prepared to make a formal presentation of the famed British fortress at the Bermuda conference. As far as is known, the British do not plan to exact a price for Gibraltar, though it is possible certain payments will be made for the fort's installations.

It is believed that Churchill will have considerable support from other British leaders because of British hostility to the proposed American hook-up with Dictator Franco of Spain. If Gibraltar becomes a NATO base, Spanish bases would not be so necessary.

British Will Give Gibraltar to NATO

Both the British and French have been flatly opposed to bringing Franco into the European defense pact and also have frowned on the proposed deal whereby the United States would set up air and naval bases in Spain.

Thanks to the powerful Spanish lobby headed by Charles Patrick Clark who draws $100,000 a year from Franco, Congress has voted some $180,000,000 of aid to Spain, part of it contingent on Franco giving up bases. The Spanish dictator, however, has been slow in coming to terms.

Behind The Curtain
In various speeches during the election campaign, both General Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles emphasized the importance of stirring up revolt behind the Iron Curtain. They were so vigorous regarding this that at one point

Aldi Stevenson expressed some differences of opinion.
For more than three weeks, however, first the Czechs and later the East Germans have been staging the most violent, bitter and significant opposition to Red rule ever seen behind the Iron Curtain.

During this time, various proposals have been put forward by the State Department to bolster the courage of rioting Czechs and Germans, but as of this writing they have run up against a blank wall at the White House.

The Yalta pact provides for free elections among the satellite nations behind the Iron Curtain and it would be an obvious and timely move for the United States to emphasize this point now. We could demand, and keep on demanding, that free elections be held.

We also have several million tons of surplus wheat, plus warehouses of butter and other foods. Some of them will spoil if not used this year. Yet if they were used appropriately in Berlin, the effect on the Russians would be devastating. American food offered to half-starved East Berlin would be something the Russians would have a hard time refusing.

If they did refuse, they would be more on the spot than ever.
However, efforts to get the Department of Agriculture to move on this have failed.

Meanwhile, CARE, the very efficient food-distributing agency, already has limited stocks of food in nearby West Berlin. Donations through CARE is one way Americans who can't get their government to move, can do something on their own.

Lady Governor of Texas

Nelson Rockefeller, grandson of the founder of the Standard Oil empire, has held down a lot of jobs in government, most of them under the Democrats, but now it looks as if he would get his biggest reward from the Republicans.

During the war, Roosevelt gave Rockefeller the important assignment of improving relations with Latin America. He did an excellent job, later became assistant secretary of state, finally served as chairman of the advisory committee on the Point IV program—all under the Democrats.

However, Nelson never got away from the fact that he was a Republican, and during the Eisenhower campaign his family contributed $85,000 to Ike's campaign chest through the interesting but legal system of paying the money out among wives, brother and sisters.

After the campaign, his uncle Winthrop Aldrich was made ambassador to England, and Nelson himself was offered various jobs in the state department which he turned down. Now, however, he has taken the new and somewhat obscure post of undersecretary of health, education and welfare, as top aide to Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby, only lady member of the cabinet.

Reason for this choice is not only the fact that the Rockefeller family have done an outstanding job in medical research, but also the fact that Mrs. Hobby plans to resign from the cabinet and run for governor of Texas.

As co-owner with her husband of the Houston Post, Mrs. Hobby has a following in Texas and would give Gov. Allan Shivers a real race. If elected, she would be the second woman governor of Texas, the first having been the famed Mrs. "Ma" Ferguson.

Fairchild Celebration
It may have been pure coincidence but one night after the Air Force canceled out Henry Kaiser's multi-million-dollar military plane contracts, Richard Boutelle, president of Fairchild Aircraft, the company that was opposing Kaiser, entertained royally for a big party of Air Force officers and other Pentagon brass.

Air Force regulation 30-30 states that no officer will "accept any favor or gratuity... where such favor or gratuity might influence a contract. Since the party was held out in the open on the Shoreham Terrace, there certainly was nothing devious about Fairchild's free-dinner gratuity. Rather, it looked like a big celebration.

It will be interesting to see, however, whether Fairchild now picks up all of Kaiser's canceled contracts. Air Force and other top brass at the dinner included: Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of staff; Gen. N. F. Twining, vice chief of staff; Lieut. Gen. C. B. Stone, III, comptroller, deputy chief of staff; Lieut. Gen. J. E.

Briggs, assistant deputy chief of staff for development; Maj. Gen. W. D. Eckert, assistant deputy chief of staff, materiel; Maj. Gen. R. W. Burns, assistant deputy chief of staff, operations; Maj. Gen. E. S. Wetzel, assistant deputy chief of staff, personnel; Brig. Gen. H. Harris Jr., war plans division; Maj. Gen. Don Putt, vice commander Air Research and Development Command; Brig. Gen. WORKING back through the mountains infested with hostile Indians would be a dangerous undertaking, Pete Morrison believed. He probably could make better time on the High Valley route. In no event could he hope to get back to Two Rivers before morning, and he certainly could not hope to approach the place in daylight.

If Zad Barnes intended to murder Nate Wilkinson immediately Nate would already be dead. If Zad intended to hold Wilkinson prisoner for reasons of his own, it would probably be days before Nate was killed. And it was on this assumption that Pete had to act.

Pete took an extra horse from Hook Anderson's stable, and enough supplies to last a week. Except when going through one high pass, which he did in the middle of the night, he avoided the road and skirted the base of the mountains, keeping in timber as much as possible.

Morning found him looking down upon High Valley. It was far from flat and although he could see the ranch that Barnes had staked out, the buildings were hidden from view by a hill. He felt some worry about the Indian boy Walter but there was nothing he could do about it; nothing to be gained by letting anyone know he was back in the country.

After he had eaten a cold breakfast he stretched out on a level place for some much-needed sleep, and it was nearly sundown when he awakened. He arose and walked over the ridge to where he could look down upon the road from High Valley to Two Rivers. He had scarcely come in sight of it when he heard the clatter of wheels, and a minute later a buggy came in sight, headed toward Two Rivers, and he could see them clearly. Zad evidently was telling some story and Cass was listening with smiling enjoyment.

He had the dejected feeling that he need not have worried over Cass. She would take care of herself. It angered him to see her on such good terms with a cold-blooded prober, but he realized that it was good sense on her part to cultivate the fellow, now that she was here. His feeling was pretty close to jealousy.

He watched them drive on toward Two Rivers, then walked back to his camp and under cover of darkness built a small fire and cooked himself a meal.

SHORTLY before midnight he headed for Two Rivers, leading the extra horse, but leaving his supplies behind. He reached the cottonwoods and willows just below where Santos and Escalante rivers came together. He watered the animals again and tied them deep in the brush. On foot, he made his way toward the trading post.

He was strongly tempted to try to see Cass, but gave it up. Her door might be watched, and it was unlikely that she would know anything about Nate anyway. It was better to do his own scouting.

There were several Indian camps close about the post, and this made maneuvering difficult. Nate, if alive, was probably being held in one of the stronger buildings outside the court proper, and he would be heavily guarded.

He was moving up on one of them when he heard a giggle. There was no shelter so he dropped flat on the earth, trusting that in the darkness he would not be seen. A moment later he saw two people apparently heading straight for him. It was the Indian girl, Sally, and her companion was a white man.

Pete had his gun in hand, ready to shoot if he had to, although it would cause an alarm that would certainly foil his plans for the present.

The couple stopped perhaps 20 feet from him, the girl still giggling.

The girl giggled again, then the man said, "Old Zad will do all right for himself, looks like. That white woman is sure a looker."

"You let her alone—me kill her," the girl said savagely. The man laughed. "Keep your little backskin shirt on," he said. "She's Zad's girl. Beat it now, I got to relieve Tex."

The girl headed for the court at a run. She passed within six feet of where Pete lay, but didn't see him because she was looking back over her shoulder. The man turned and walked over to a cabin just beyond the one Pete had been working toward.

Pete was on his feet a moment after they were out of sight, and moved swiftly toward the building he had intended to inspect. He heard the murmur of voices, but couldn't hear what they said. He froze against the side of the building as he heard a man walking toward him.

AT the end of the building the man stopped and called back, "I'm warnin' you, Herb. You're in bad with Zad right now, and if you go to sleep on guard duty what he'll have to do to you won't be nice. Foolin' around with that Injun girl when you oughta been gittin' some sleep."

"Don't worry about me," Herb called sulkily in reply.

The man, Tex, came around the corner of the building so close that Pete could have reached out and touched him, but he passed on and Pete was spared having to knock him out.

Pete no longer had any doubt that someone was being held in the next building, and it was almost certain to be Nate. The job of liberating him still lay ahead. A difficult and dangerous task, but Pete was elated because Nate probably was alive.

Pete could not afford to act rashly now. He must wait and make his plans. Sooner or later he would have a chance to free Nate Wilkinson.

The World Today— GOP Takes Detour on Tax Bill

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The main point of the struggle inside the Republican party over the excess profits tax is that President Eisenhower seems certain to get what he wanted.

To get that, his supporters could have plunged the Republicans in the House into a torrid, wide-open family fight. Or they could have taken a detour around it. They chose the detour.

In doing so they beat Rep. Daniel A. Reed of New York. This oldest Republican in continuous service in the House was the main obstacle to Eisenhower's desire for extension of the excess profits tax on corporations.

But they did it in such a way that they avoided smashing a congressional tradition—the almost sacred right of a committee to handle its own affairs—and thus avoided the fight which would have tested Eisenhower's leadership.

Many members of the House who might have voted to give Eisenhower the extension of the profits tax at the same time were in a mood to go against him in any move that meant trampling on committee tradition.

The tax dies automatically at midnight tonight. Eisenhower asked Congress to continue it through Dec. 31. His strongest and loudest opponent was Reed, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

It was Reed's committee which had the task of considering whether excess profits should be extended. Almost invariably, on any important problem, a committee examines it before the full House can vote on it.

If a committee majority then votes against a measure, that almost always ends it. It never gets up to the House for a vote. And if a committee doesn't vote at all, the effect is the same. The measure is virtually dead.

And extremely rarely, when a committee should die or be extended, legislation or fails to vote, is any attempt made to snatch it out of that committee's hands and bring it to a House vote.

In short, committee approval is the necessary preliminary to getting a bill up to a House vote. Reed tried to defeat Eisenhower and let the profits tax die tonight by refusing to call his committee to vote on it.

Eisenhower's congressional lieutenants then got another powerful committee, the rules committee, to take the tax bill out of the hands of Reed's committee and send it to the floor yesterday for a vote. This bypassing of the ways and means committee brought a storm in the House.

There never seemed much doubt that if the tax extension came to a House vote, it would pass. But before there could be a vote on the tax, the House had to vote in effect, on whether it approved the tactics of the Eisenhower forces in bypassing the ways and means committee.

This was where many of those who would have voted for the tax itself might vote against bringing it up in the way it was done. A vote against Eisenhower on that score would have been a vote against his leadership.

Would Eisenhower have lost on this? Speaker Joseph Martin says no, that the President had enough votes to win all the way through. But it would have been a bitter struggle.

Just before it was ready to start, Eisenhower's supporters found a way to avoid the showdown. They got enough members of the ways and means committee to agree to vote on the excess profits tax in the usual, orderly fashion.

It was believed that a majority of Reed's committee, if permitted to vote before all these arose, would have voted for what Eisenhower wanted. But none of them protested very strenuously when Reed didn't let them come together for a vote.

Reed, forced into calling a meeting of his committee for July 8, nevertheless remained defiant and said he would oppose the tax extension himself.

Now, no matter when the House approves, as it's expected to do, the tax can be made retroactive to June 30.

Four Bandits Stage 'Party' For Dentist

NEW YORK (AP)—Four young bandits—with time on their hands and larceny on their minds—staged a "surprise party" yesterday for a dentist, a woman physician and 18 others.

The quartet took over for four hours the Brooklyn house used by the dentist and physician, admitting 15 patients as they arrived, robbing them of jewels and cash, and keeping them prisoner through the siege.

But the four young men, before fleeing in fright when the physician fainted, treated their victims to drinks and snacks and even returned some of their loot at the request of three patients.

It all started late in the afternoon in the three-story house owned by Dr. Sonya A. Monen, 50. She lives there and has an office there. The dentist, Dr. Irving K. Madow, rents rooms there for an office.

The four robbers, apparently in their late teens or early 20s, first invaded the dentist's ground floor offices. One youth held a pistol, two others carried switchblade knives.

Madow and a patient he was attending were promptly herded into Dr. Monen's dining room. Then the robbers rounded up a maid and Dr. Monen's daughter, Mrs. Isabel Whitehall, who also happened to be in the house at the time. Dr. Monen was absent.

At first, the bandit quartet went about their business in a determined and rough manner. They bound and gagged the four persons with adhesive tape.

However, after a half hour, when the victims complained of thirst, the intruders released them.

Soon patients started arriving. The robbers greeted them and took them into the dining room.

The thieves split up, a pair ransacking the house while the others stood guard in the dining room.

During the ordeal, the bandits raided Dr. Monen's refrigerator and passed out beer and soft drinks, crackers, cheese and raw carrots to their "guests."

The quartet leisurely relieved their captives of cash and jewelry. But they returned some watches and rings of modest value to the three patients, who pleaded they be allowed to keep the articles.

It was about 7:30 p. m. when Dr. Monen returned to her home and found the "party" going on. She too was greeted by a robber, who demanded that she open a safe in a hall closet.

Her reply was a scream. Then she collapsed.

Obviously alarmed, the robbers made a hasty departure.

An inventory by their victims disclosed that the four obtained loot consisting of $345 and a $500 cocktail ring. Police said they apparently took nothing from the house.

Showdown Is Expected On Bobo's Occupancy Of Hubby's Apartment

NEW YORK (AP)—The matter of Barbara (Bobo) Rockefeller's continued occupancy of her estranged husband's Park Avenue apartment may be settled today.

The 36-year-old Mrs. Rockefeller, who moved with her son into the apartment over the week end, told newsmen yesterday that attorneys had arranged a four-day truce ending today.

Under this truce, she said, she had been allowed unrestricted use of the apartment until sometime today.

Mrs. Rockefeller held a news conference to explain her sudden arrival in the apartment. She came here with her 4-year-old son, Winthrop Paul, from an Indiana farm. She said she was trying to preserve the marriage for the sake of the boy.

There were suggestions she might have to move with the boy, and a woman friend who accompanied her, into a hotel after today. However, Mrs. Rockefeller herself was somewhat vague on just what might happen.

Rockefeller, 40, has had no comment on the apartment occupancy. He is in Little Rock, Ark.

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—A 61-year-old man trying to break the transcontinental walking record stopped briefly in Wheeling for a rest late yesterday.

David Will Power, who said he left California April 20, admitted the hills of neighboring Eastern Ohio had left him a little tired when he arrived in Wheeling. After a short rest, he set out again last night.

Power is accompanied on his coast-to-coast walk by two men who remain close by in a small automobile. The trio camps out at night.

Power said he is trying to break the 77-day record which was set in 1910 by Edward Payson Weston. Power hopes to be in New York City by July 11.

Mexico Chamber Asks About Parity Prices

MEXICO, Mo. (AP)—The Mexico Chamber of Commerce has asked a government official how farmers are going to get the parity wheat prices which he says they should have.

A telegram was sent yesterday to John H. Davis, head of the Commodity Credit Corporation, noting that he had said there was no reason for selling wheat 30 to 60 cents below parity.

"Price being paid farmers here today is $1.68 per bushel. Parity price here expected to be $2.32. It was $2.31 last year," the telegram stated, adding that there is no storage available and: "Two thousand Audrain county farmers would appreciate knowing solution you had in mind."

Lonesome Gal Sheds Famous Identity Mask

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lonesome Gal, seductive-voiced radio star, performs a little strip tease today and sheds her famous mask.

She has even permitted the first newspaper photos taken without her mask in the six years she has been wooing lonely males via the airwaves.

The reason for the shedding is a sound one. She is shrewd enough to know that any gimmick can be overdone. Also, her fan mail has tipped her to a new idea.

When she first started, her mail, averaging 1,000 letters a month, used to be about 10 to 1 male over female. Lately, it has switched to 7 to 3 female over male.

"So I decided that from now on I'll slant my show more toward the women, giving beauty hints and so forth," she said.

She has adhered so rigidly to the no-picture policy that she and her husband never before had posed together—not even for a wedding picture.

Yes, fellows, Lonesome Gal has been married for four years and is quick to credit her husband for boosting her into the better than $100,000-a-year income bracket.

She is Jean King Rousseau, wife of Bill Rousseau, veteran radio producer and director who was one of the originators of "Dragnet."

An attractive brunette of 29, she was born in Dallas, Tex., but lived most of her life out here. She has been a Goldwyn girl in the movies, a radio actress, even a radio engineer. In 1947, she found herself broke and homesick for her family who were living in Dayton, O.

She went there and got herself a job on station WING as a disc jockey. Lonely in a strange town, she conceived the idea for Lonesome Gal. She stayed there for two years and decided, on an impulse, to come back to Hollywood.

"Would you believe it?" she asks. "I had an awful time selling the show here because Hollywood, of all places, thought it was too sexy for radio. I never had that complaint in Dayton."

Then she married Rousseau, who saw the national possibilities of Lonesome Gal. They started making transcriptions.

"When we married in 1949," she recalled, "our combined income was $80 a week. Nine months later, we had grossed $100,000. It's been that way ever since."

The whole operation is carried on in a $80,000 home in the San Fernando Valley. A studio is located by the swimming pool, and there the two make the transcriptions used by 60 stations throughout the country.

Even her next-door neighbors aren't aware that she is anything but a housewife.

Police Hunt 6 Councilmen For Meeting

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police today looked for six city councilmen, four of whom were reported to have gone fishing.

With the fiscal year closing, the six failed to show up for yesterday's Council meeting to vote on a successor to Councilman Ed J. Davenport, who died recently. Eight members were present, two less than a quorum.

Three newly elected Council members will be seated tomorrow. Councilman John C. Holland asserted:

"This whole thing is being engineered by the public housing bureaucracy. Every one of these missing councilmen in the past has voted favorably for public housing."

Congressman Norris Poulson, who defeated the incumbent, Fletcher Bowron, for the mayor's office last month, campaigned on a promise to discard the 110-million-dollar public housing program. Poulson also goes into office tomorrow.

Council President Harold A. Henry handed summonses for the missing councilmen to Chief of Police William Parker, saying: "This is the first time in the history of this city that this has ever happened."

Demaret Reveals Another Secret--

Hogan Became Great Golfer When 'Hook' Became 'Fade'

Third of a series written for NEA Service
By JIMMY DEMARET
Three-Time Masters Champion
CONCORD INTERNATIONAL,
N. Y.—Ben Hogan was run off the first golf course he ever hung around.

A mean caddy master didn't cotton to a kid destined to become the greatest of them all.

But Ted Longworth, the professional at Fort Worth's Glen Garden Country Club, saw possibilities in young Ben, encouraged him.

Hogan played as an amateur for a while, took the west coast tour as a pro in 1932. For two years he could not make ends meet, so he gave up golf and went to work—as a croupier in a Fort Worth gambling house for a spell.

I played against Hogan for the first time in my first pro tournament of record—the 1935 Texas PGA at Dallas' Walnut Hills. I won. Ben finished about 20th.

By 1937, Hogan had saved a few bucks, and decided to give the game one more try.

"I've got the secret of it now," he told me.

Hogan wasn't getting anywhere in particular, and was about to chuck it again when Henry Picard came to his rescue. I don't know if the Chocolate Soldier of Hershey, Pa., actually lent Ben money, but he guaranteed him against failure. Ben succeeded Picard as the Hershey professional.

Hogan won only one tournament prior to 1940, and that the 1938 Hershey Four-Ball Invitational paired with Vic Chezzi. I was hot in 1940, won six of nine, including the Masters. Hogan was the favorite in that Masters, for he finally had started to roll with three straight victories. He finished 10th in that Masters, but won the Goodall Round Robin which followed.

In those years, Hogan was a better hitter than he is today. He stroked a much longer ball, but hooked consistently from right to left. He couldn't putt as well and didn't think as well as he does now.

The good golfer has to get height, like a basketball player puts an arch on the ball. The ball has to drop onto the green. In those days, Ben couldn't get height. He hit everything low because a hook tends to travel low. Actually a low shot is good only when you're hitting into a wind.

Hogan practiced for hours getting the ball off the ground.

Curing the hook, he became a fader from left to right and mastered the game.

He reduced the margin of error through his grip. The back of his left hand points to the line of flight. His left thumb is straight down the shaft instead of slightly on the side.

A hook rolls, so Hogan sacrificed some distance fading. But he had very short going one way and backspin on the greens to prevent a lot of trouble.

Hogan has a big swing for a little guy. Did I say little? That stuff about Ben being a bantam at only five feet seven or so and 140 pounds is a lot of bunk. Why, he weighs 165. Short? Well, I'm five 10 and I know he's taller than I am.

Hogan isn't doing badly for a guy of 43. You say he's listed as 40. That's this year. Next year he'll tell you he's 39. In '42, and I know Ben's a year older.

And 43 happens to be the oldest age at which the United States Open Championship was ever won. Big Ted Ray of England was 43 when he won at Toledo's Inverness in 1920.

The key to Hogan's swing is his ability to wait. By waiting, I mean he's able to generate power throughout the entire swing. When he reaches the base just before contact, he applies the maximum force. Many break their swing, lose power along the way. Hogan drags the club low along the ground in a straight arc much longer than the average. He hits through the ball, and thereby gets more distance.

Ben Hogan is a beautiful hitting area.

NEXT: Ben Hogan charts the course.

Saddle Club Plans Cross Country Ride

The State Fair Saddle Club will make its final plans for the cross country ride to Camden at a meeting to be held at the fair grounds at 8 p.m. Wednesday. "It's the last call to the Camden riders," the committee in charge announced.

Approximately 20 riders will make the trip. The purpose of the ride is for the saddle club members to participate in the J Bar H World Championship Rodeo, which opens in Camden Thursday, July 9.

The riders will be joined by other members at their Tuesday night camping site and will ride into Camden on Wednesday. They will take part in the big parade on Thursday and also in the performance of the rodeo each night and Sunday afternoon.

The cross country riders will have a large chuck wagon carrying the meals the riders will eat on the trip. A large truck will go ahead to the various stopping places and have the meals ready for the riders on their arrival. Sites have been picked 20 miles apart. Various watering spots have been marked for the riders to water their horses along with several swimming "holes."

They plan on leaving the fairgrounds at 7 a.m. Sunday and riding 20 miles. The route will take them down the Abel road to Stover where they will pick up State Highway 135 and ride that route to Highway 5 and on down to Camden. First overnight stop will be about 11 miles north of Stover. Monday night it will be near the New Bethel Baptist Church south of Stover about 10 miles. Tuesday night's stop will be at the Hurricane Deck Bridge and Water Resort. Wednesday the ride takes them into Rodeo City and there they will be housed in motels, their horses being taken to the J Bar H Ranch.

The riders will load their mounts in trucks and trailers on Sunday evening and motor back to Sedalia, arriving here Sunday evening.

Schoendienst First To Make 100 Hits

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Red Schoendienst is the first major league player to collect 100 hits this season.

The scrappy St. Louis Cardinals' second sacker made two safeties in last night's game against the Chicago Cubs to bring his total to 101.

Chiefs Defeat Lions 5-3 In Exhibition

The Sedalia Chiefs defeated the Boonville Lions in an exhibition game played at Slater Monday night, 5 to 3. Both teams gathered all their runs in one inning. The Lions took three in the second while the Chiefs collected theirs in the fifth.

The game played at Slater drew a crowd of more than 350 baseball fans. Money taken in was used to defray expenses of the two teams and the remainder went into the Slater recreational fund.

The game started with Arnold on the mound and Lane behind the plate. Team play was steady after the second inning when Miller took over the catching duties and Lane went to left field with Fall moving to the centerfield, replacing Miller. Arnold hurled a good game and had excellent support behind him.

In the second the Lions opened the inning with the right getting first on a single to right field and he went to second on Lane's error. Walker popped to Case, Whiteside flew out. Webb walked. Haag hit a home run to drive in Thomas and Webb. May walked and Cleary popped to Arnold.

The Chiefs came back in the top of the fifth and started their rally which brought five runs. Fall singled past second. Bennett was hit by a pitched ball. Thomas was safe on an error, filling the bases. Miller smashed a triple, clearing the bases and then was nipped off third. Cleary to May. Dillon walked. Lane singled. Arnold, hit by a pitched ball, filled the bases. Dillon scored when Higgins was hit. Case struck out. Lane scored on Fall's single. Bennett popped to Whiteside to end the inning.

The Sedalia team will be host to the All-Star game to be played at Liberty Park on Wednesday night, July 8.

The second half of the Central Missouri League will be opened by the Chiefs when they meet the Boonville Lions on the Liberty Park diamond Friday night, July 10.

Five other entries, Clayton Craig, Mike Wertz, Tommy Austin, Johnny Bopp and Ronnie Turner failed to qualify, all of them shooting above 48 on the first round.

The state meet will be held at the Moberly Country Club July 10, with a practice session July 9.

Last year Reynolds finished second in the state tourney and represented Missouri in the national tournament at Eugene, Ore.

This year's national will be held at Ann Arbor, Mich. on August 17.

La Monte Girls Defeat Emma Squad, 18-7

The La Monte girls' softball squad defeated the Emma girls' squad at La Monte Friday night, 18-7. This was the second game of the season between the two teams. La Monte took the first of these by an 11-run margin.

Ida Hughes led the La Monte girls in runs, collecting four. Dorothy Stockstill and Ella Hughes followed with three each.

Una Fay Hudson, La Monte third baseman, and Oetting, Emma's catcher, both connected for homers, while both LaRue Harvey and Betty Breshers of La Monte got triples.

The Hughes girls formed La Monte's battery, with Maugman on the mound and Oetting catching for Emma.

The same teams will meet again Tuesday night at Emma at 7 p.m.

Sunday night the La Monte girls journeyed to Olathe Park diamond in Kansas City, Kan., where they handed out a 12-8 defeat to the United Broom Company girls' team.

One of the La Monte infielders had to leave game because of injuries, but the La Monte team settled down afterwards to take the game by four runs.

Ida Hughes, who was on the mound for La Monte, walked only one of the Kansas while the Broom company hurler was re-lieved in the third inning for wildness.

The only four-sacker of the game was made by Mary Van Bibben of the La Monte team.

Leaders Profit By 8 Bubbles; Beat Emma, 8-5

Sedalia's Schlitz Leaders collected only three hits Sunday night, but Emma, playing the perfect host, contributed eight errors and the local club scored an 8-5 Central Missouri Softball League victory.

Bobbles by the losers assisted the Leaders' rally. The Sedalia team made two in the second on one hit, two in the fifth on no hits and four in the sixth on two, including a double by Cliff Logan.

R. Fischer paced Emma with two safe blows including a triple, and Bob Schelp, the Emma first sacker, pounded out the game's only home run.

Tommy Sanders hurled a creditable 7-inning and had only one hit in the seventh, when the losers chased over three runs on the aforementioned triple and homer.

The Leaders next play Sedalia Air Force Base AIO Squadron at 8 p.m. Friday at Center Park. This is a Central Missouri Softball League contest.

Elks Beat Kiwanis In Mound Battle Jaycees Stop Winning Rotary Club

Two youthful pitchers tangled on the mound in the National League Little League Monday night and saw R. Gates hurling for the Elks win over Farris of the Kiwanis 1 to 0. In the second game of the evening the Jaycees came through to outlast the Rotary and won 8 to 2, holding the Rotary to a tie in the standings with the Elks.

In the opener the pitchers' battle all the way saw these two youngsters pitching near perfect ball. Fans were rooting for both pitchers. Both teams had excellent support in the field.

The only tally came in the third when Farris walked Gates. Fischer sacrificed him to second, and Garrison came through with a hit to score Gates. In the first inning the only other man outside of Gates to reach first base during the game for the Elks was Brown, safe on Stratton's error.

The Kiwanians had a little more luck in having men reach first base, but that was all. Six of 'em tagged up at first. Jim Mateja on a clean single and a hot one by Kelly to second which nearly knocked Fischer down. It could have been scored either a hit or single but the force of the ball decided it for the scorer who chalked it up a hit. Gates walked four others.

Gates had nine strikeouts and Farris fanned eight.

Jaycees Over Rotary

The Jaycees scored their third victory of the season when the weak end of the batting order came through to provide the necessary scores to beat the league leading Rotarians, 8-6.

The loss by the Rotarians and the win by the Elks put

Hal Boyle's Column—

To Appreciate Life on Earth, Try Walking on Ocean Floor

SHELLY BAY, Bermuda (AP)—Do you ever feel like you want to get out of this world? Well, one way is to go for a walk on the ocean floor. Then you are in a strange and exciting world and a wonderful one to see. Tropical fish are a lot prettier than most people, and, by and large, more sincere.

I was somewhat less than eager when Bronson and Martica Hartley, who escort tourists on conducted tours of the sea bottom, suggested I make a deep sea dive. "It has been a long time since I got my Boy Scout merit badge in swimming," I hedged. "And besides, it was in calm water and I didn't even get my ears wet."

"You won't get your ears wet this time, and you don't even have to hold your nose," said Martica, and added pleasantly:

"We've taken down more than 6,000 people in the last five years—and we brought at least 90 percent of them back."

She maneuvered me over the side, and a huge, 75-pound diving helmet descended over my head. "Oh, no," I murmured, glancing out the window panel and feeling like a fugitive from a TV Space Cadet program. Martica gave me a friendly push, and down I sank slowly to the sea bottom. And if the helmet had been on your head, this is how it would go:

Everything except the quick-darting small fish is in slow motion. You have a feeling of floating and sinking, rising and falling. You can't walk standing upright. You move in a crouch, moving one leg slowly and finding a footing before you draw up the other leg. Martica looks out through his helmet and grins. He takes you by the hand and leads you to a coral reef outcropping. He pats it to show you it is safe for you to hold onto. Some live coral can sting and is mildly poisonous.

Everything around you seems delicate and wavy and beautifully colored. Then you are struck by the fact the only sound you can hear is your own breathing. You are in a world of rainbow loveliness.

LITTLE LIZ

Men usually don't worry about their age until they start getting sunburned on top of the head.

ness and sunlit silence, a world without noise. Hartley pulls out a knife, digs out a mussel, and cuts it open. One half he holds behind him to draw away the eager small fish, and thrusts the other half in your cupped hand so you can feed his pet, Helen.

Helen is an angel fish, with blue-purplish stripes and bright yellow tail. Hartley has pampered her for five years and she is fat and quite spoiled. There is no doubt it is Helen. She has a purple birthmark on her right shoulder, and none of the other angel fish has one quite like it.

Helen swims brazenly up and nips away the raw mussel flesh. The other fish swarm up too late. Then they nuzzle your body, exploring each freckle, wart or mole curiously, and each touch leaves a tingling tickle.

You move slowly across the floor of the sea, with Helen following. Hartley points out the branched animals that look like plants, and the plants that look like animals. In this submarine wonderland it is hard to tell whether an object is animal, mineral or vegetable.

You pick up a sea cucumber—it looks like an ordinary cucumber covered with brown leather—and

Vandenberg Retires As AF Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The change of the military high command begins today with retirement of Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of staff of the U. S. Air Force and senior member of the joint chiefs of staff.

A farewell salute from jet warplanes and marching men of the force Vandenberg has commanded for five years was arranged at Bolling Air Force Base here.

A few weeks hence the others of the "Old Chiefs" will depart to make way for the "new chiefs" named by President Eisenhower, partially in response to a demand by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) that there be a clean sweep of the strategy-making Joint Chiefs.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower were invited to attend the ceremony at Bolling field, but the White House said last night the Chief Executive had made no plan to attend.

Secretary of Defense Wilson and Deputy Secretary Roger M. Kyes will also be absent. Wilson left Washington Friday for a 10-day vacation in Northern Michigan and Kyes will remain at the Pentagon.

Although only 54, Vandenberg has completed 30 years of service as an air officer. He served a full four year term as air chief in April, 1952, but former President Truman re-appointed him to a short term so he could round out his 30 year military service and become eligible for retirement.

When Eisenhower took office in January, he made no move either to rename Vandenberg or pick him as chairman of the Joint Chiefs to succeed Gen. Omar Bradley, whose second term in that office expires in August.

With the departure from office of the civilian defense and Air Force heads of the Truman administration, Vandenberg became the chief defender of Air Force budget proposals to carry the Air Force toward a goal of 143 wings by 1955.

Vandenberg battled before congressional committees against the plan of the administration and Secretary Wilson to clip five billion dollars off appropriations in the next fiscal year and cut the 1955 goal to 120 wings. The general contended that the danger of delay was great, that Soviet air strength and atomic capability is growing swiftly.

But the battle was going against him as he left command. A House committee not only sustained Wilson's proposal, but cut the figure even more.

Vandenberg, his friends say, retires without rancor at the turn of events—but without any intention of giving up the effort to build up Air Force striking power faster than he believes can be done under the Wilson planning.

Vandenberg will vacation a month or two, probably at Colorado Springs, Colo., where he likes to play golf and rest. Associates expect he also may do some writing. There has been no announcement.

Japanese Begin Task Of Clearing Debris Caused by Flood

TOKYO (AP) — Weary and grim residents of Japan's southern island of Kyushu today began to clear debris left by modern Japan's worst flood even as more disaster threatened.

Rainclouds and scattered showers were predicted for at least two more days and a typhoon was expected to hit within a week, barring a change in course.

Much of the northern part of Kyushu still is underwater. Property damage was estimated at 280 million dollars. A million are homeless.

The human toll stood at 474 dead, 682 missing, and 979 injured, as reported by Japanese national police headquarters.

No American casualties were reported.

Aid poured in from all parts of Japan. Foreign envoys promised assistance from their governments. Some 20,000 American servicemen on Kyushu were readied for relief work.

Although most trees show annual rings of growth when their trunks are sawed through, this is not true of some tropical evergreens.

On his later intentions, but it is expected he will enter business. Succeeding Vandenberg is Gen. Nathan Twining, who served as vice chief of staff.

Traffic Deaths Rise 4 Per Cent Over 1952

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council reported today that traffic fatalities in the first five months of this year totaled 14,230—an increase of 4 per cent over the total in the corresponding period of 1952.

Deaths in May numbered 3,223. That was a reduction of 2 per cent from the number killed in May 1952, but it was the highest total for any month thus far in 1953. The council figures 40 million vehicles will be on the streets and highways during the Fourth of July week end which starts Friday.

By 1956 it is estimated that more than half of TVA power will come from steam plants.

Ike's Military Shift Takes Effect Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Defense Department reorganization which President Eisenhower said would strengthen civilian control but which opponents derided as making way for a "military man on horseback" went into effect today.

It gives to the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the head of the Pentagon's strategy - making organization, new functions — a provision opposed by a determined but unsuccessful group of Republicans and Democrats in the House.

The efforts to stop the plan from going into operation was beaten Saturday, 234 to 108, with opponents falling 110 votes short of the majority needed to veto it.

The Defense Department had ready a series of directives to put into force the first major reorganization plan for the department since it was created under the Service Unification Act of 1947. In addition to changes involving the Joint Chiefs, here are some of the others:

1. Abolition of two large units of the Defense Department: the Munitions Board and the Research and Development Board.

2. Creation of six additional assistant secretaries of defense, making nine in all.

The issue in the House argument over the Joint Chiefs of Staff revolved about the control of that strategy organization over a subordinate group, labeled the "Joint Staff." The Joint Staff, an organization of about 200 officers from each of the armed forces, does the spade work for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, preparing studies and plans upon which they make their recommendations on strategy to the President and National Security Council.

Management of the Joint Staff is now transferred to supervision of the Joint Chiefs chairman. It was primarily on this point that the

Truman Tastes Night Life Of New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman tasted the city's night life last night, turning in shortly before 1 a. m. today. Accompanied by Mrs. Truman, daughter Margaret and several friends, he started out with dinner at the plush "21" club.

They then took in the Broadway musical "Wonderful Town," where the ex-President met the star, Rosalind Russell, and other members of the cast. He "loved" her performance, he told Miss Russell.

The evening was rounded off with a visit to the fashionable St. Regis Hotel roof. There Miss Truman danced with her escort, Col. Warren Baker, a former White House aide.

Truman's night on the town ended a long day for the 69-year-old former President, who began it with his customary early morning walk.

During the day, he discussed the Truman Library, to be built on the Truman farm near Grandview, Mo., with national and New York leaders for the library committee.

The library, he told them, should be a national, not personal, project. "You don't need a memorial to
